Officials Planning Order Against Shipment From Ohio and Other States as Result of Widespread Appearance of Foot and Mouth Disease.

Associated Press.

Washington, Feb. 6.—As the result of discovery of foot and mouth infection in Chicago, Indianapolis, Louisville, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Jersey City, Pittsburgh and Columbus, the Department of Agriculture today instructed its inspectors to close yards in those cities to inter-state shipment of live stock after shipments in transit had been disposed of.

An order prescribing details and declaring whether the yards will be permitted to continue to receive cattle for immediate slaughter will be issued later.

As to shipments in transit the inspectors were instructed to allow the stock to go forward if they showed no symptoms of the disease and had not been handled in infected areas and were destined for immediate slaughter in quarantined areas, the federal inspection of meats is maintained.

Loss from the foot and mouth disease in the present outbreak thus far has aggregated $3,399,110, the Bureau of Animal Industry announced today.

Twenty states and the District of Columbia have been more or less affected since last October. There have been slaughtered 46,268 cattle, 47,735 swine, 7,151 sheep and 22 goats.

Owners of cattle have been the hardest hit by the foot and mouth disease. Up to January 136,758 animals had been slaughtered in Illinois, valued at $1,147,000.

With 17,896 animals killed Pennsylvania was the next heaviest loser and Ohio third with 10,111.

Information was received at the department that the Pennsylvania state officials were promulgating a quarantine today against shipments from Ohio, Kentucky and other states.

Officials believe instead of a repetition of the recent quarantine over large areas disinfecting of the yards will suffice to stamp out the latest outbreak.

COMPLAIN AGAINST THE CONSOLIDATION OF LIFE INSURANCE

Columbus, O., Feb. 6.—Protests against the proposed consolidation of nine life insurance companies in Ohio and West Virginia, the plan for which was worked out at a meeting in Columbus, January 26, have poured in upon the state and J. H. Harper, head of the department, has decided to give the protestants a hearing next Wednesday. The protests are informal and are made by representatives of other Ohio companies and foreign companies doing business within the state.

Inasmuch as the trustees representing the proposed consolidation plan already have received from the blue sky department a certificate showing them to have complied with all the provisions of the blue sky law, the protestants will have to produce good reasons for annulling the certificate, it is said, before the certificate will be revoked. All the protests have been made in letters to the head of the blue sky department.

County Treasurer W. G. Benham, of the R. L. Dollings Company, said last evening that he did not know of any legal grounds on which the protestants could base a claim of irregularity, as the ablest legal counsel in the state had been employed in working out the proposed plans for consolidation. He did not believe that the protests will be of any avail.

William H. Hunt, president of the Cleveland Mutual Life Insurance Co., who has expressed himself absolutely opposed to the consolidation plan, was in Columbus yesterday. He returned on an early evening train. It is thought that he conferred with other protestants concerning the method of procedure.

WILLIS WILL NOT REMOVE
MAYOR KARB

Columbus, O., Feb. 6.—Governor Willis will not even entertain the proposal to remove Mayor Karb from office.

This is indicated in a statement the chief executive issued today. Where the removal of a local official is sought, application for this should first be made to the courts, so the Governor declares.

The charges asking for the removal of Mayor Karb were filed by the Columbus Ministerial Association and they are based on alleged misconduct of the mayor during an automobile ride on inauguration night.

The statement of the governor also makes it clear that he does not intend to act on the charges brought against Mayor Carl Keller, of Toledo, and Mayor Staats, of Coshocton, both of whom are charged with violating the civil service law.

Unless the German memorandum explains the precautions which German naval commanders will take to ascertain whether a ship flying a neutral flag is really a neutral vessel, it is most probable that an expression from the United States government will follow, pointing out that the de-

GREAT FLANKING MOVEMENT IS ON

Belief Expressed that Russ Will Drive German Forces Out of Poland as Result of Struggle Now on—Loss of Life Greatest of Any Battle During War.

By Associated Press.

London, February 6.—On his chosen ground to the west of Warsaw General Von Hindenburg, the German commander, is continuing his costly lunges to break through to the Polish capital.

At the same time the Russians, further to the north, have pressed forward and after crossing the Bzura river they are seriously threatening the Germans with an outflanking movement.

Thus another great battle for Warsaw is on, involving perhaps a greater loss of life than any other conflict in the war. The issue is still undecided but the Russians claim that the initiative has passed, although further furious German attacks are expected.

The most complex and strategic ally, the more important struggle in invaders.

the Carpathians is dragging on without decisive turn. Broadly speaking, it appears that in the western half of the battle region the Russians are making progress, while in the eastern half they appear to have fallen back from the Lupkow and Beskid passes on prepared positions where they are attempting to stem the rush of large Austro-German forces.

The Russian counter blow on the maged assaults of General Von Hindenburg's men is, to British observers, the most interesting development of the struggle in the east. It overshadows, for the moment, operations of the Russians in East Prussia and is taken in some quarters to indicate that they have ceased playing the role of merely holding their lines to the west of Warsaw and are determined on an effort to expel the Germans.

water, although little actual suffering has taken place.

The river registered 54.7 at nine o'clock and an announcement was issued shortly thereafter by the Central Union Railroad Depot officials that the station would be vacated early in the afternoon.

The government forecaster said the river would reach a maximum here of 56 feet some time tomorrow and begin to fall on Monday.

The announcement also said the crest of the flood had been reached at Portsmouth at 55.5.

MAY GET PLUM

By Associated Press.

Columbus, O., Feb. 6.—Daniel H. Armstrong, a young lawyer of Jackson, Republican, may be chosen secretary of the State Public Utility Commission Tuesday, by members of the commission, to succeed C. A. Radcliffe, of Lancaster, according to reports in political circles here today.

The salary probably will be $3,000 or $3,600.

MINE WRECKED
158 ESCAPE
AND 10 PERISH

By Associated Press.

Fayetteville, W. Va., One hundred and sixty-eight men were entombed in the mine of the New River Coal Company at Carlisle near here, by an explosion today.

All but ten made their way to the surface. They reported that six of the men in the section where the explosion occurred had been killed but they knew nothing of the other four.

Rescue parties were organized to search the workings.

The explosion occurred in a remote part of the mine when an open lamp carried by one of the miners came in contact with a pocket of gas.

The hoisting apparatus was not damaged and when the men reached the foot of the shaft, after struggling through the darkness, they were quickly hoisted to safety. A thorough search for the dead and missing is being made.

KEEP LOOKOUT FOR THIS GERM

Watch out for the grip germ! A warning has been issued to Ohioans by members of the staff of the state health board, who said the epidemic of influenza and grip now sweeping the state is leaving in its wake after effects more terrible than those often caused by the more "serious" diseases. The most common of these after effects is damage to the hearing of children. Health board members gave this warning:

The disease is easily communicable by contact. It is caused by a germ. Beware of kissing anybody who has grip, or if you have it don't kiss your baby or your wife. Get plenty of fresh air. Take a rest. See a doctor.

WHAT OHIO IS DOING IN RELIEVING THE BELGIANS

Local Contributions Increasing and Fayette Citizens Have Another Week in Which to Aid Millions Who Are in Urgent Need of Food and Clothing—Depot on W. Court Street.

Ohio's contribution to Belgian Relief, exclusive of the organized work now in progress under the Ohio Commission for the Relief of European War Sufferers has already totaled $1840 in cash and 270,770 pounds of provisions, according to a partial statement submitted by the national office in New York. This information has been furnished the state office at Columbus, so that Ohio may have credit for every cent that has been raised, even before the work was systematized.

There are 35 communities represented and 55 separate shipments recorded of provisions sent from Ohio to the New York office before Ohio had its own organization. Flour came from many sources, also meal and canned goods. Akron sent 20 tons of salt. Almost 3,000 pounds of evaporated milk are included, mostly from Marysville. From Columbus have gone more than 100,000 pounds.

Chillicothe is credited with 30,000 pounds of food. The list runs from these figures all the way to packages of five and ten pounds, which some individual in a small community had shipped east, not knowing that there were appointed receiving stations in Ohio.

Fayette county citizens are just beginning to awaken to the opportunity afforded in relieving the needy Belgians, and during the coming week the depot on West Court street will remain open for the reception of money and provisions.

What will Fayette give toward the relief?

DAYTON YARDS ARE QUARANTINED

REPUBLICANS IN CONTROL

Columbus, Feb. 6.—James Boyle of Columbus, who was in charge of the publicity bureau of the Republican state executive committee during the campaign last fall, and James H. McGiffert, an Ashland attorney, were appointed members of the state tax commission by Governor Willis. Boyle succeeds Chris Pabst of Hamilton, Democrat, for the term ending the second Monday in February, 1917, while McGiffert takes the place of F. E. Munn of Bowling Green, Republican, being appointed for a term of six years. These appointments turn the commission over to Republican control.

REDUCTION NO. 3 On Goodyear Tires

Making Total Reductions 45% in Two Years To Give Always The Most For The Money

We are glad again—for the third time in two years—to announce a big reduction on Goodyear tires, effective February 1st.

Goodyear policy on price is to give the utmost in a tire at the lowest possible profit. Our reductions are made to that end, without ever reducing the quality.

That always means, with our matchless output, more for the money than any other maker can give.

As rubber came down our prices came down. As our output multiplied, reducing factory cost, our prices came down with it. In two years our reductions—including the present have totaled 45 per cent.

Last year we increased our output 26.6 per cent. A few days ago the embargo on rubber was modified so that supplies seem assured. The market price for rubber seems for a time established. Fabric costs less than last year. So, under our minimum profit policy, we announce this new reduction.

Only Fair Basis

We consider profit margin on a tire the only fair price basis. We keep that margin just as low as our line allows.

While we do that, Goodyear tires will always undersell any tires that compare with them.

DEFEND THEIR FOUNDATIONS

Carnegie and Rockefeller, Senior, Appear On the Stand.

MAKE INTERESTING WITNESSES

Both Declare the Institutions They Founded Do Not Constitute a Menace to the Religious, Political or Educational Liberty of the People. John D. Would Be Glad to See Workers as Partners in Business.

New York, Feb. 6.—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., and Andrew Carnegie testified before the federal commission on industrial relations. They defended the foundations which they have endowed with their wealth, and neither would say he believed that the institutions constituted a menace to the religious, political or educational liberty of the people of the United States. A desire to promote the welfare of mankind, and that alone, they said, prompted them to establish the foundations which bear their names.

In his testimony Mr. Carnegie revealed that up to the close of last year his donations totaled $324,657,399.

His present business, he added, was to do all the good he could in this world. He sketched the growth of his steel business and said he "never had such a good time in his life" as when he was talking to his employees. Carnegie invited the commissioners to visit the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh. Commissioner Walsh informed him that the commission planned to hold hearings in Pittsburgh at a later date and that it might accept his invitation.

Mr. Rockefeller was assisted to the witness stand by members of his personal staff. He spoke very slowly and calmly. The oil magnate declared that his motive was to devote a portion of his fortune to the services of his fellow men. He said he regarded the right to rescind the charters of the foundations as sufficient guarantee against abuse of the funds.

Mr. Rockefeller told how he directed his business enterprises and the part he played in the administration of the foundations. He said he would grant all men the right to organize, workingmen and business men as well, providing they kept within the proper limitations in respect to the law and to safeguarding the general interests of the public. He stated he would be happy to surrender his holdings, either in whole or in part, and let the workers have a voice in the board of directors, just as all other stockholders do, thus giving them some of the profits of their labor. He would be very happy also, he said, to see the workers be his partners in business.

The witness declared that he had a great deal of confidence in the American people and their goodness. Integrity and common sense, said he, are sufficient security for the foundations.

Mr. Rockefeller had never considered the grievances submitted to the Colorado Fuel and Iron company by his employees. He pointed out that he was a retired business man and had been such for many years.

HAMMERS NAVAL BILL

Washington, Feb. 6.—A savage attack on the naval appropriation bill made in the house by Representative Underwood, the Democratic leader, resulted in the upsetting of a plan for additions to the navy proposed by the house committee on naval affairs. Mr. Underwood led the attack on the naval bill with a vigor rarely shown by him, declaring that if the Democratic house approved the building program embodied in the navy budget, it might just as well prepare for a bankrupt treasury and get in readiness for the retirement of the party from power. When the bill was reported to the house it contained authorization for the construction of twenty-eight ships of war. Upon the completion of Mr. Underwood's work the bill went to the senate providing for only twenty-one additions to the fleet. The measure was robbed of six submarines, one hospital ship and one transport. It provides for the construction of two dreadnaughts, to cost $7,800,000 each.

RUMORED CUNARD LINER TORPEDOED BY GERMANS

New York, Feb. 6.—The New York Tribune prints a rumor from Washington to the effect that the former Cunard liner Campania, which is now being used as a British transport, has been torpedoed by a German submarine in the English channel.

EXPERTS WILL SUPPORT VON- DERHEIDE LAW

Ernst and Mead, Flood Prevention Experts, to Speak.

Columbus, Feb. 6.—General Oswald H. Ernst of Washington, D. C., and Professor Daniel W. Mead of the University of Wisconsin will be in Columbus Tuesday in connection with the hearing of the Garver and Quinck bills repealing the Vonderheide law, which provides for flood prevention in the Miami valley and other parts of the state. They will speak in favor of retaining the Vonderheide law on the statute books in its present form.

General Ernst is one of a board of engineers who reported on the plans for flood prevention in the Great Miami valley proposed to be carried out under the Vonderheide law. He has had active connection with some of the most important engineering works undertaken by the government in recent years, including the Panama canal; and is at the present time chairman of the American section of the international waterways commission and a director of the Panama railroad.

Professor Mead is a professor of hydraulic engineering at the University of Wisconsin. He is a member of a board recently appointed to report on methods of flood prevention in China.

TORN FROM MOORINGS

Cincinnati, Feb. 6.—The rising waters of the Ohio river tore from their moorings a coal fleet of 25 loaded and 13 empty barges. The government snagboat E. A. Woodruff, was caught by the barges and swept down the river, as were several shanty-boats, which sank, and a few men and women occupying them had narrow escapes from drowning. The Woodruff was overhauled by a fleet of harbor steamers which brought it to shore and then continued down the river after the barges, nearly all of which were saved.

Other damage caused by the flood was due to the rising water entering homes and business houses in the lower part of the city. Charitable organizations are prepared to relieve those in distress.

The Old Time Favorites

It is remarkable how the old works of fiction and poetry and the old time songs retain their hold on popular favor.

Never in the history of the world have there been so many new books, new poems and new songs given to the public—and a great majority of those which are placed upon the shelves of the booksellers and the music dealers are good too in the estimation of the critics.

With them all, however, on the market, and at reasonable prices, the works of Dickens, Hawthorne, Scott and Hugo, the poems of Goldsmith, Tennyson and Poe and the old time songs like "Genevieve", "Silver Threads Among the Gold", "Ben Bolt" and the like, still retain their place at the very top of the pedestal of public favor.

There is a something indescribable about these old books and songs which endures, which attracts and holds the admiration of each generation of readers as it comes along.

We have, by late authors, books that succeed one another as the "best sellers", but they don't last like the old books.

They each have their day in the public favor and are forgotten, the old ones remain the standards in literature.

The same is true of the "popular" songs of the day and that word popular is used in its true sense and not in the extended sense which covers all the trash (and worse) thrown on the market under the name of music. Many catchy airs gain wide popularity by reason of the personality of the actor who sings them, but with a few notable exceptions they do not endure. They create a furor for a time and give way to the later popular airs while the old substantial songs are always good and always popular.

Why no one knows exactly, other than that there is that same indefinable something that must go with a book, or a poem, or a song, which, respecting individuals, to insure enduring popularity, we call personality.

Some Meaningless Talk

The head of the Ohio Anti-Saloon league, Wayne B. Wheeler, in addressing the dry convention at Columbus, Tuesday, stated that the present legislature must enact no law which would so "decentralize" the liquor license law as to take away the central control of the traffic and that no legislation should be enacted which would lodge the power to appoint the local license commissioners in the judges; that the judiciary of the state must be kept free of the liquor traffic.

If the legislature did enact any such legislation, Mr. Wheeler announced, it would be regarded as a backward step in the cause of temperance.

No one of any consequence has yet suggested seriously that the power to appoint liquor license commissioners be lodged in the judiciary, and Mr. Wheeler is certainly well enough posted to know that. Neither has any one of consequence suggested that a central control by the state of the liquor traffic should be taken away or that it could be done legally under the Constitution, if the legislature should suddenly become possessed of any notion to attempt to enact such a law.

Mr. Wheeler is too good a politician, of practical experience, not to know that the only "decentralization" of the present liquor license law ever agitated was in regard to the appointment of local license commissioners. He cannot be presumed to be ignorant of the fact that one of the main objections urged by the retail liquor dealers of Cincinnati was that the present law deprived Cincinnati people of the power to select their own license commissioners and they wanted the present law changed—"decentralized"—so that Cincinnati could select its own liquor license commissioners. The only state control of the liquor traffic which has compelled the retail dealers to obey the laws of the state and the ordinances of the cities was that which the state maintained through its power to appoint local license commissioners and to remove them when they permitted a violator of the law to hold a license to carry on business.

Any legislation which would take away from the state the power to control the traffic. That's loose language for Mr. Wheeler to use, especially at this time when the liquor interests as well as the dry forces know how the state now controls the traffic and just how the liquor interests want the control taken away from the state so that Cincinnati and other liberal cities may return to the open Sunday times.

Why could not Mr. Wheeler have stated his position on the proposal to "decentralize" the power to appoint local liquor license commissioners and to lodge that power with the community? Would legislation which did that be a backward step in the cause of temperance?

In view of the disastrous results to the cause of temperance last November, Mr. Wheeler, who is the accredited leader of the Anti-Saloon forces in Ohio, cannot now afford to be obscure in his statements. He cannot afford to talk idly. He cannot afford, without seriously dimming the luster of his reputation as a leader of the Anti-Saloon forces, to be building up straw men and knocking them down for effect.

The liquor forces in Cincinnati are demanding that Cincinnati be given the right to appoint its own liquor license commissioners.

Does Mr. Wheeler think the legislature of Ohio should accede to that demand?

That's the "decentralization" we have been hearing about.

THE SOLILOQUY OF AN OLD SOLDIER.

You need not watch for silver in your hair,
Or try to smooth the wrinkles from your eyes,
Or wonder if you're getting quite too spare,
Or if your mount can bear a man your size.

You'll never come to shirk the fastest flight,
To query if she really cares to dance,
To find your eye less keen upon the sight,
Or lose your tennis wrist or golfing stance.

For you the music ceased on highest note—

Your charge had won, you'd scattered them like sand,
And then a little whisper in your throat,
And you asleep, your check upon your hand.

Thrice happy late, you met it in full cry,

Young, eager, loved, your glittering world all joy—

You ebb not out, you died when tide was high.

An old campaigner envies you, my boy!

Freiburg Often Attacked.

During the eight centuries of its existence Freiburg, the ancient cathedral city in Baden, has again and again suffered almost every possible kind of attack. In the wall above the door of the Loretto chapel there is embedded an iron cannon ball which nearly took the life of Louis XV, when he assaulted the city. But the most interesting memorial of an attempt to get Freiburg is the picture on the Schwabentor of a peasant with a cart. It commemorates the Freiburgers' habit of jesting at the Swabian peasants. One of them, the tale ran, decided to buy Freiburg and brought two sacks of gold and asked, "Was kostet's Städle?" ("What does this bit of town cost?") When opened the sacks were found to contain only sand, which the peasant's wife had prudently substituted for fear of accidents.—London Mail.

Volcanoes in New Zealand.

New Zealand's volcanic phenomena are accounted for in the Maori legends in the following manner: One of the first chiefs to reach New Zealand from the ancient home in Hawaiki brought with him a trusted follower, Ngauruhoe, with whom he set out to examine the country. When they reached the highest peak they suffered much from cold, and the chief shouted to his sisters on a far distant island to send some of the fire which had been brought in canoes from Hawaiki. This fire immediately came in a southwesterly line, subterraneously bursting forth on the summit where the chief and his follower sat freezing. It arrived in time to save the life of the former, but not that of Ngauruhoe, whose name is commemorated in the highest peak of the Tongariro mountains. Geyser, hot springs and fumaroles mark the course of the subterranean passage. Mount Egmont stands in solitary grandeur because he, as one of the three giants, quarreled with the other two, Tongariro and Ruapehu, and had to fly to the coast to escape their wrath.

Five Passenger Touring Car, Model 81-T

30 Horse Power Motor.

The new model 81 touring car is fully equipped. It is electrically started and lighted, and has an ammeter in the convenient cowl-dash to indicate how much current is being stored in the battery. It has a rain-vision, ventilating type windshield, adjustable in a variety of ways for all weather conditions. It has a top of wear-resisting, weather-proof mohair, with top boot and curtains. It has a speedometer and a sight-feed oil indicator which, by means of a small revolving wheel, shows clearly the flow of oil even though the glass may be full. It has an electric horn, demountable rims with one extra, tire carriers in the rear—everything, in fact, that is needed on a touring car for convenience or comfort.

U. S. NOW OWNS SITE FOR NEW POSTOFFICE

ALL PAPERS SIGNED UP HERE TODAY AND WARRANTS FOR $15,000 ISSUED ON U. S. TREASURY IN PAYMENT FOR SITE ON CORNER OF HINDE AND MARKET STREETS OPPOSITE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Another piece of red tape—a very necessary one, however—was unwound in connection with the government building to be located in this city, when papers were signed up, Saturday morning, and the transfer of the site for the new building formally made to the United States government, warrants in the sum of $15,000 being issued to the John Hays heirs and Samuel Daneman, the former receiving $10,000 for their lot and the latter receiving $5,000 for their property.

Soon after the deeds changed hands they were filed in the recorder's office, and now Uncle Sam owns a slice in Washington and local citizens are wondering when the next tape will be unwound and further evidence of the building developed. Sherman T. McPherson, United States attorney for the Southern District of Ohio, with offices at Cincinnati, represented the United States Government in closing the deal, and the papers were signed in the offices of Post & Reid, shortly before noon, Saturday.

Now all that is required for full possession of the land is an order to remove the buildings, and 60 days after such order is issued, work can be started on the new structure. However, it is not known when the order will be issued.

The abstract for the property—a very voluminous one of more than 100 typewritten pages, was made by Judge Rell G. Allen, and was accepted by the district attorney and the U. S. attorney general, without the necessity of a single change in the abstract.

It is believed that work on the $65,000 structure may be taken up the coming summer, but this is extremely doubtful, and it may be a year or two yet before such action is taken.

VOLIVA'S WIFE DIES AFTER A LONG ILLNESS

Chicago, Feb. 6.—After an illness of sixteen months, Mrs. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, wife of the successor of John Alexander Dowie as head of the Christian Catholic church of Zion City, is dead. Throughout his wife's illness Voliva denounced those who criticised him for permitting no physician, excepting the health commissioner of Zion City, to attend his wife.

Many local citizens will remember the deceased woman when she resided in this city with him some 12 or 14 years ago, at which time Voliva was pastor of the Church of Christ in this city.

While here Rev. and Mrs. Voliva became widely acquainted in the city. It was only a short time after his pastorate here that he became a disciple of Dowie, and since that time has risen to the head of the church in Zion City.

WELL KNOWN RESIDENT ANSWERS SUMMONS

Mrs. Rachel Hopkins, widow of Levi Hopkins, one of the well known Fayette countians, died Friday morning at her home near Madison Mills, at the advanced age of almost eighty-three years.

Mrs. Hopkins had been ill but a few days. Her three children, Mrs. Allen Taylor, of Columbus, sons J. E. and William, were with her during the short period of illness.

The funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock in the M. E. church of Madison Mills. Burial in the Madison Mills cemetery.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES AT LININGER FUNERAL

The relatives of a wide family connection gathered with friends at Grace M. E. church Friday afternoon for the funeral services of Mrs. Catherine Lininger.

Rev. Frederick E. Ross, pastor of Grace church, and Rev. T. W. Locke, Mrs. Lininger's earlier pastor and warm personal friend, conducted the services, which were most effective in their beautiful simplicity.

By the special request of the deceased favorite hymns were read, and the service will be lifted.

DEATH OCCURS AT MARSHALL, MO.

Relatives and friends in this city as well as in Bloomingburg, the former home of the deceased, will regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Edward Wright (nee Belle Stewart), at her home in Marshall, Mo.

Some time ago Mrs. W. Q. Kinkead, of Bloomingburg, a sister, received word of her sister's failing health and the word of her death was not unexpected.

CINCINNATI YARDS AGAIN QUARANTINED

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 6.—Several cases of foot and mouth disease were discovered at the Cincinnati Union Stock Yards yesterday afternoon, and Dr. Burnette, Federal inspector, immediately ordered the yards placed under quarantine.

The diseased cattle were among a shipment that had recently been received at the yards from Indianapolis. The affected cattle will be killed by the government officials, and the remaining cattle in the yards will be examined by the government officials.

An official of the stock yards said yesterday that at the time the discovery of the disease was made a general cleaning up campaign was in progress, which will be completed by the first of the week. It is thought that after this is finished the quarantine will be lifted.

A parents' visiting committee of twenty members was appointed, to act as a standing committee to visit the schools at least once a month during the time of appointment. At the end of each month this committee reports to the club as a whole its impressions as to conditions as they have been found and any suggestions for improvement which may occur to the members.

A feature of each meeting will be the taking up of some subject of mutual interest for club discussion.

The new club promises to be a real "get together" organization for parents and teachers, and teens with possibilities for mutual benefit.

MANY PERSONS FIND WORK IN CITY AND COUNTY

Through the agency of the free employment bureau recently established by the Fayette Credit Bureau, more than one dozen persons have obtained work during the past week, and the bureau still has work for a number of men of the right kind.

Several persons who have applied for work have not yet received work for which they are qualified. Persons having work to do, or desiring work should apply at once to the bureau, and have their name placed on file, or the job assigned.

The admonition to those having work that can be done now that they have done later, is meeting with ready response, and persons are urged to continue furnishing work if they have it to do.

Outside of the cases where the Bureau has furnished places for those seeking employment, a number of men have furnished work for men they have picked up at various places.

The free employment bureau will be continued for some little time yet, and the men who really want work are invited to apply at the offices of the bureau in the Pavey block.

SPLENDID MOVEMENT AT CHERRY HILL

Principal F. B. Toops, of the Cherry Hill school, is responsible for the making of a little interesting school history Friday afternoon, when he organized Washington's first "Parents and Teachers' club".

The new club is nothing more less than a co-operative society for bringing together the mutual interests of school and home and the establishment of a closer bond of sympathy and community of purpose.

A large number of parents responded to Principal Toop's invitation and assembled at Cherry Hill to effect an organization and discuss plans.

The new club was organized with Mr. Harry Fitzgerald president; Mrs. Bertha Gardner Crooks, vice-president; B. F. Toops secretary.

It is the intention to hold a meeting at Cherry Hill on the first Friday of each month.

The committee in charge deems itself very fortunate in obtaining Mr. Frank at any price, and cordially invites the public to hear his great message.

Saturday morning Frank L. Parrett loaded six cars of hogs at Parrott Station. A week ago he sold 375 head of hogs.

Chas. McLean loaded five decks Hampshire swine, Friday. The pens averaged 257 pounds and an attractive drove of fat hogs has been sold this season.

GREAT LECTURER COMING WEDNESDAY

A large number of local citizens are looking forward to next Wednesday night, when Mr. Glenn Frank, of Northwestern university, who so captivated his auditors at the chautauqua in this city last summer, will appear at the High school auditorium and there deliver his famous lecture on "Lost in the Crowd."

Mr. Frank is regarded as one of the greatest lecturers of the age, and it is expected that hundreds of persons will avail themselves of the opportunity offered to hear him.

The small admission charge to hear Mr. Frank is far less than the usual price.

The committee in charge deems itself very fortunate in obtaining Mr. Frank at any price, and cordially invites the public to hear his great message.

LAST MEETING OF THIS WEEK

The down-pour of rain Friday evening interfered with the attendance at the Presbyterian church, although the services averaged 257 pounds and an attractive drove of fat hogs has been sold this season.

RUSSIANS ON THE OFFENSIVE

Petrograd, Feb. 6.—The Russian armies west of Warsaw took the offensive before the Germans could recover from their reverse in the battle of Goumine-Borjimow. Having broken the onslaught of seven divisions of General Von Mackensen's infantry in the fighting of the past few days, the Russians crossed the Bzura, at its junction with the Vistula, and dislodged Germans from a bridge head at Dakowo. The German losses are placed at 25,000 men.

The report issued by the Russian general staff indicates that the defenders of Warsaw have begun a general movement to drive the Germans from central Poland. The fighting is continuing, but the success of the Russians in crossing to the west bank of the Bzura indicates that they are

Senate's Session Is Devoted to "Laundry Work."

VERBAL ONSLAUGHTS MADE

Senators James, Camden, Vardaman and Others Engage in Sharp Debate, During Which Party Differences Are Given an Airing—Ship Purchase Bill Likely to Be Temporarily Set Aside.

Washington, Feb. 6.—When the senate recessed until Monday it was with the general belief that the ship purchase bill will be set aside early next week and that the senate will proceed to other business in an effort to pass the appropriation bills and avoid an extra session of congress. Some of the more aggressive administration senators, like Senators Simmons and James, insisted that the ship purchase bill will not be abandoned.

The session was devoted to "laundry work" by the Democrats. Senator Hardwick of Georgia attacked Senators Stone and Reed for their speeches reflecting on the motives of the seven Democratic senators who had gone on record in favor of recommitting the ship purchase bill. Senator Vardaman followed Mr. Hardwick. He made a scathing attack on Senator Stone and declared his willingness to resign his commission as a senator rather than become a mere "puppet for the White House." He charged that President Wilson had issued orders to the Democratic caucus and that the caucus had obeyed, while the convictions of most of the Democrats were that the bill was bad legislation.

Senator James closed the debate by a very bitter attack on his colleague, Senator Camden, and a colloquy ensued in which Mr. Camden was charged by Senator James with having voted against the Democratic ticket in 1896, 1900 and 1904.

Senator Camden retorted that Senator James himself was not in full accord with Woodrow Wilson in the campaign of 1896. Senator Camden reminded his big colleague that somebody had said something about knocking somebody else into a cocked hat back about that time.

Senator James flared up and allowed that the Democrats of Kentucky would knock "somebody else" into a cocked hat.

One of the most interesting developments in connection with the shipping legislation was a motion by Senator Gore of Oklahoma to discharge the senate committee on commerce from further consideration of a bill, which he had introduced, as a compromise measure to meet the demands of certain progressive Republicans. It is understood that the purpose of the motion is to make it possible to bring the ship purchase bill before the senate again should the motion to recommit the pending bill be carried, as now seems likely.

FRENCH FIGHT FOR RAILROAD

Paris, Feb. 6.—The activity of the French troops in the Champagne district, between Rheims and the Aisne, is attracting attention because of the strategical importance of relatively small advances. The French are struggling to reach the east and west line of railway which runs behind the German front. The French advances have so seriously imperiled the German possession of the railway that the Germans have been delivering a series of attacks in an effort to hold the French merely on the defensive. These attacks have failed, and the French have continued to put heavy strain on the German line. They have gained ground north of the farm of Beausejour, while at Massiges they repelled an attack by the Germans. There was fighting near Altkirch, in Alsace, where the Germans renewed their efforts to halt the French offensive, but were beaten back.

GERMANY PREPARES FOR BIG BLOCKADE

London, Feb. 6.—Germany is making extensive preparations for the blockade of England, that has been decreed to go into effect on Feb. 18. A dispatch received from Amsterdam stated that several submarines had arrived at Zeebrugge, the German naval base on the Belgian coast. It is expected that these will be used to attack British transports and merchant ships.

SUSPECTS FOUL PLAY

Yonkers, N. Y., Feb. 6.—That five old men and three old women were deliberately chloroformed as they slept in the German Odd Fellows' home on Tuckahoe road, near here, that they were murdered because their age and general debility was too much of a care and that their deaths were announced simply as due to old age, is the belief of Coroner James P. Dunn of Yonkers. The coroner told of his convictions in this regard after he had concluded the first session of the inquest which he is making into the eight deaths at the home. He immediately issued warrants for the arrest of three porters at the home, whom he had interrogated, and for Adam Bangert, superintendent of the home. All were locked up as material witnesses without bail.

Enchanted Gardens.

It has always seemed to me that no child had been quite fairly treated who had not lived with the fairies in an enchanted garden. There must be walls about such a garden to hold in memories and tall trees for mystery and much fragrance—and shadows—and the child must sometimes play alone that his delicate joy may not be marred. What peace this garden will bring in the old, dry years to come, what ineffable tears, what longing!

Pierre Loti found his first touch of romance in a sweet French garden where there were friendly old aunts, much color, perfume and song, idle, still days.

I remember a wonderful haunted wood in Holland which rested at the edge of a queen's garden and was all a soft, translucent green. The trees met overhead and sent down pale green shade, and the little stream that moved so slowly through the woods was like a narrow strip of jade. Even the air was green and heavy with stories, and I knew that there were fairies every where, hiding under the leaves, peering at me from the thick fern beds and sailing silver boats down the jade river.

VICINITIES OF WARSAW.

No city in Europe has known so many changes of masters as Warsaw. Founded about the year 850, it was capital of the independent dukedom of Masovia until the fifteenth century, when it was annexed by Poland. In the seventeenth century its possession was contested for by Sweden, Russia, Austria and Brandenburg, until in 1704 Russia practically annexed it. In 1735 the city was handed over to Prussia, but Napoleon occupied it in 1806 and at the peace of Tilsit Warsaw was proclaimed an independent city. In 1809 the Austrians seized the city, but lost it again, and after another brief spell of independence the city passed finally to Russia in 1812—London Chronicle.

Newspaper Advertising

Goes direct to the people and the people constitute the buying public. Newspaper advertising not only talks but it emphasizes; it has the undivided attention of the reader and covers a field no salesman can hope to reach. There are many styles in newspaper advertising and the small announcement, which costs only five cents, is just as effective in its way as the larger one, which costs proportionately more. The benefits to be derived can not be measured by the size of the ad, for the very good reason that the small, inexpensive announcement invariably proves effective. Newspaper advertising costs from five cents up to any price the advertiser desires to pay.

COUNTIES TO REMAIN DRY

Columbus, Feb. 6.—The state liquor license commission issued a statement in which it declared that no license commissioners will be appointed for the present in twenty counties. Later on there may be commissioners appointed for a few of these. This will depend upon ability of those interested in having commissioners appointed to establish that there is wet territory within the boundaries of such a county.

The twenty counties in which no commissioners will be appointed are Adams, Ashland, Ashtabula, Carroll, Clermont, Clinton, Fayette, Geauga, Guernsey, Hancock, Harrison, Highland, Holmes, Knox, Lake, Medina, Morgan, Noble, Van Wert and Williams.

Counties in which commissioners will be appointed are Belmont, Brown, Cuyahoga, Delaware, Fulton, Gallia, Greene, Hardin, Jackson, Logan, Madison, Meigs, Miami, Monroe, Morrow, Paulding, Pike, Portage, Preble, Trumbull, Union, Vinton, Warren, Wayne and Wood. The appointments probably will be announced next week.

URGE CUTS IN SALARIES

Columbus, Feb. 6.—More than $50,000 annually can be saved in the state highway department by lessening expenditures and cutting salaries and abolishing positions. State Civil Service Commissioner Bryson told the Howard legislative office probe committee.

Heads of all state commissions will suffer reductions in salary of $1,000 if the legislature approves the recommendations to be made by the committee. Secretarieships will suffer cuts of $1,000 to $2,000, it was also stated.

Besides recommending that salaries of the four members of the state board of administration be cut from $5,000 to $4,000, the committee will recommend that the office of secretary, now held by W. E. Haswell, salary $3,000, be abolished. The salary of Fiscal Agent Frank Brown is to be cut from $4,000 to $3,000. Members of the state tax commission also will be cut from $5,000 to $4,000.

NEUTRALS DISTURBED

United States Likely to Wire a Protest to Berlin.

Washington, Feb. 6.—The German announcement that after Feb. 18 all vessels, neutral and belligerent, will be in danger of destruction by German naval forces if they approach Great Britain, is generally regarded here as one of the most serious developments affecting the United States that has arisen since the outbreak of the war. Since the state department has not yet received officially the German notice, it has not been formally taken under consideration. Unofficially, however, the German decree is the chief topic in administration quarters. The state department has cabled Ambassador Gerard at Berlin for the official text of the announcement.

That other neutrals regard with gravity the situation precipitated by Germany was also indicated in the call at the state department of the Netherlands minister. The minister wishes to get the views of the United States government on the issue at the earliest possible moment. The German announcement places the coast of Holland under practically the same ban as that of Great Britain.

No question is raised against Germany's declaration that the waters around Great Britain are within the zone of war. To disregard the lives of noncombatants in the execution of this declared policy will bring the United States into this phase of the question if Americans are made the victims.

The German government has taken a position for which absolutely no precedent is found in international law. It is unheard of for a belligerent government to propose to take vengeance on neutral vessels because it has reason to believe that belligerent vessels are sailing under false colors by using neutral flags to conceal their real nationality.

Germany is trying to bring about cessation of all ocean traffic with Great Britain. This is a belligerent right, but it is provided in the accepted rules of war that it must be done by a blockade. The United States already has protested to Great Britain that fear of seizure and delay has been a deterrent of American shipping, and it seems certain that a protest will be made to Germany against the intimidation of American shipping by hints of actual destruction.

The Time to Break It.
There is an anecdote in some volume of French theatrical memoirs narrating an experience of Mlle. Clairon, the great tragic actress, with a pupil of hers, a girl of strong natural gifts for the histrionic art, but far too frequent and too exuberant in her gesticulation. So when the pupil was once to appear before the public in a recitation Mlle. Clairon bound the girl's arms to her side by a stiff thread and sent her thus upon the stage.

With the first strong feeling she had to express the pupil tried to raise her arms only to be restrained by the thread. A dozen times in the course of her recitation she was prevented from making the gestures she desired until at the very end she could stand it no longer, and in the climax of her emotion she broke her bonds and swung her hands to her head.

When she came off the stage she went humbly to where Mlle. Clairon was standing in the wings and apologized for having snapped the thread.

"But you did quite right," said the teacher. "That was the time to make the gesture, not before."

When Earthquakes Come.

That animals are sensitive to the approach of earthquakes is a fact frequently observed, and the more recent seismic troubles in various countries give numerous examples of this singular faculty which many animals possess. For instance, in Japan horses set up an unusual agitation whenever a seismic shock is near at hand. In Central America dogs and cats flee from houses, and the inhabitants have become so accustomed to this that they follow the example of the animals and leave their dwellings so as to escape danger.

In Italy it has been observed that birds left their nests and flew up to a great height in the air, but this without noise before the earthquake took place. However, at the time when the earthquake shocks were produced the birds uttered cries which lasted for all the duration of the earthquake. It is asserted that in Sicily cocks crow and dogs howl just before an earthquake.—Chicago News.

Two Kettles of Water.

Sir Robert Hart, speaking of marriage and death customs in the far east, told a story of a great Chinese scholar and high official who said that the foreign way of letting the young people fall in love and choose and then making acquaintance reminded him of two kettles of water. The first—the foreign—was taken at the boiling point from the fire by marriage and then grew cooler and cooler, whereas the second the Chinese was a kettle of cold water put on the fire by wedlock and ever afterward growing warmer and warmer, "so that," said his friend, "after fifty or sixty years we are madly in love with each other!"—Exchanges.

MANY VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS OFFERED BY SUPERINTENDENT

County Superintendent of Schools, Frank M. Allen, Writes Interesting Letter to Teachers, and Parents and Pupils Will Find It of Absorbing Interest Generally—Letter Shows Close Touch With Needs of Rural Schools.

County Superintendent of Schools, Frank M. Allen, has sent a letter to each teacher in the rural districts of the county, and to each member of a board of education, in which he offers many helpful suggestions calculated to arouse deeper interest in teaching and among the pupils themselves.

While the letter is addressed to teachers, it is of general interest to everyone because of new thoughts brought forward regarding teaching and the public schools.

Lack of space permits use of the entire letter, but many of the important parts of the letter are given below:

Dear Friend:

Only twelve more weeks and most of the schools will close. Let us see how much good we can accomplish in that short time.

Let us go to work with increased energy. Adopt as our rule that of Charles Dickens: "Whatever I have tried to do in life, I have tried with all my heart to do well."

It is far better to do a few things well, than many things poorly.

If your pupils are studying geography across the ocean, bring them home and the remainder of the school year study the Western Continent.

In teaching geography you will find much information in papers and magazines. Encourage pupils to collect pictures bearing on the lesson. Pictures often teach more than the text.

It is said ninety per cent of the children never reach the high school. Then civic training is highly important.

Now cut loose from shore and sail out into the great ocean of life. Teach your pupils to think. Better for them that you eat their lunch they increased energy. Commit the following for dinner than for you to do lowing, and have your pupils do the all their thinking. Teach them to be same. Do what it says. It will help satisfied and happy in their country you. Recite it to me when I come:

"The day is THIS; the time is NOW; a country is not its wealth but its No better hour was ever here, citizens. That in our free country, Who waits upon the when and how rights, and these rights are not based on wealth, talent or station in life,

Your feet may still seek out the way,

Tomorrow is not soon enough—

MAKE THIS THE DAY."

Your pupils are of the age that impressions made now are lasting. Teach

Power of the Supreme Court.

"The supreme court of the United States," writes Christian Bonnet in Case and Comment, "exercises a power which we think is unique in the world, to pass upon the constitutionality of the statutes enacted by congress. It may thus suspend the execution of the resolutions lawfully adopted by both houses.

This scene depicted a gorgeous sunset behind a rugged horizon of hilltops and the effect completed by the shadowy outlines of the principals of the story, standing out against the tinted sky as they paused on the crest of a knoll, sent a genuine thrill through the audience.

Interesting Bible Point.

Commentators cannot fix the date of Joseph the carpenter's death, says the Christian Herald. Some hold that it must have taken place before Jesus began his public ministry. In support of this they point to the fact that Joseph is not mentioned in connection with the wedding feast at Cana. Others believe that Joseph must have passed away before the crucifixion; otherwise he would have been at the cross with Mary. Under the circumstances nothing definite can be stated on the matter. Christian tradition asserts that Joseph was over eighty when espoused and that he lived to be a very old man. The "upper room" mentioned in Acts 1, where the first gathering of disciples and converts was held after the ascension, may have been in the house of one of the apostles (of John or Mark, as some suppose), but the general view is that it was probably the upper chamber in a house the owners of which made it a custom to hire out such rooms for meeting purposes. This custom, it is claimed, was known in Jerusalem long before Christ.

Waters of the Nile.

The waters of the upper Nile start to rise about June 15, reaching the greatest height at the autumnal equinox, and then gradually subsiding until the following April. That the Nile should thus save the country from total barrenness and make it one of the most fertile lands of the earth is reason sufficient for the bestowal on the mighty stream of the name of "the most holy river" and that the good Mussulmans of Egypt should believe that it has its source in paradise. In ancient times the river had its appointed priests, festivals and sacrifices, and if its rising were delayed a single day they took the most beautiful girl they could find, dressed her richly and drowned her in the waters as a sacrifice to turn away the wrath of the river god and merit his favor. The quality of the Nile water has been highly extolled. Some have said that it is to other waters what champagne is among wines. The priest of Aps would not give it to the sacred bull lest it should become too fat.

As Good as a Clock.

When Rossini, the Italian composer, who was noted for his punctuality, was director of the Theatre Italien in Paris, he used to attend the rehearsals every morning. Precisely as the clock struck 9 he came out of his house and hailed the nearest cab. Eventually a certain cabman noticed it and was at the master's door each morning. As soon as Rossini entered the cab the driver would look at his watch and then drive off at a good pace. This proceeding was repeated every day. Rossini often wondered whether the driver looked at his watch to see how much time he had to get to the theater.

Finally one day he said, "My friend, why do you always look at your watch as soon as I enter your cab?"

"Monsieur will pardon me," replied the cabman, laughing, "but I do it to see whether my watch is right."—Novellen-Schatz.

Won a Title.

December, 1854, when Napoleon III. offered to send re-enforcements of 20, 000 men to the Crimea to the British to convey them, the government was on the point of declining on the ground that no transports were available for such work. It was eventually decided to ask some of the great steamship companies for assistance, and the next cabinet Sir James Graham announced that this had been done "Mr. Cunard," he added, "can provide immediate transport for 8,000 men, leaving the question of payment to be decided subsequently by arbitration." What is Mr. Cunard's Christian name?" asked Palmerston. "Samuel," said Graham, "Sir Samuel," said Palmerston, with emphasis on the "Sir." And at the close of the war the ship owner was created a baronet—London Chronicle.

A Card Problem.

Can any reader, asks a writer in the Strand Magazine, verify and explain the following, brought to my notice recently? Deal out four whist hands, purposely making a misdeal—i.e., two cards to one hand. Pick up the hands, shuffle to any extent and then redeal properly this time. It will be found in nine cases out of ten that one of the hands contains either a singleton one card or a suit or lacks a suit altogether. I have tried this repeatedly and nearly always with the same result.

To the Point.
